CHURCH ANNOUNCES NATIONAL DROUGHT PRAYER CAMPAIGN The Catholic Church in Australia is dedicating the month of November as a time to pray for those affected by crippling drought conditions and to pray for the gift of rain. The Bureau of Meteorology says that, on some measures, the drought is the worst in 100 years or more, with most parts of Australia's eastern states declared to be in drought. Wilcannia-Forbes Bishop Columba Macbeth-Green OSPPE oversees a diocese that covers about half of New South Wales, including some of the most drought-affected areas in the country. He said the month of prayer is an additional response to the local work being done in affected communities. "Some of our Catholic ministries, along with other faith-based, charitable and government organisations, are doing remarkable work, supporting people with material needs, offering financial support and responding to people's psychological and spiritual needs," Bishop Macbeth-Green said. "In some dioceses, practical responses like school fee relief or support with rising utility bills can ease an increasing burden for families. But in a Catholic context, prayer must be a part of our response." Bishop Macbeth-Green said the Bible, in both the Old and New Testaments, has stories of rain being "God's gift" to people who are suffering, "In times of drought like we are experiencing now, we should pray for God's gift of rain, which will have the power to quench our arid lands and also lift many people's fallen spirits," he said. Bishop Macbeth-Green said the National Prayer Campaign must be truly national, noting that the whole country suffers when there is a drought – especially one of this magnitude. The Church needs to be an example of recognising that reality. "The Church across Australia – lay people, religious, priests and bishops alike – needs to stand in solidarity with those suffering most acutely, offering prayers and practical support to those in most need."
