Today's Gospel gives us an insight into Jesus' self-understanding of his mission. While scholars debate the historicity of some aspects of the Gospels there is no doubt that Jesus did call disciples, that he shared his own mission with them, that he singled out twelve, and that Jesus was involved in a ministry of teaching, healing and exorcism. With the evidence of this behaviour the next question to ask is, 'What did it mean?' Does this behaviour reveal what Jesus thought about his mission?

The Gospel offers important clues. Jesus taught that God's reign was about to break into history. As part of the preparation for this imminent event Jesus set about the restoration of Israel. At one time Israel was composed of twelve tribes this single nation was divided and overrun by foreign nations. The singling out of twelve symbolises that Israel is once again to become whole and united. This focus on Israel is why at first the disciples are sent only to the Jews, and not to Gentiles or Samaritans. During Jesus' time his ministry was primarily to Israel and only after the Resurrection did the disciples expand their mission to non-Jews. A reconstituted Israel is to be a source of blessing and salvation for everyone.

The crowds Jesus saw were 'harassed and dejected.' I suspect he would see the same today. We certainly do need labourers to speak and live out of Gospel values of hope, generosity, kindness and respect for self and others. But when you pray for labourers, do look into the mirror and see yourself.

Serve the Lord with Joy

First Reading: Ex 19:2-6

From Rephidim the Israelites set out again; and when they reached the wilderness of Sinai, there in the wilderness they pitched their camp; there facing the mountain Israel pitched camp.

Moses then went up to God, and the Lord called to him from the mountain, saying, 'Say this to the House of Jacob, declare this to the sons of Israel, "You yourselves have seen what I did with the Egyptians, how I carried you on eagles' wings and brought you to myself. From this you know that now, if you obey my voice and hold fast to my covenant, you of all the nations shall be my very own, for all the earth is mine. I will count you a kingdom of priests, a consecrated nation."

Second Reading: Rom 5:6-11

We were still helpless when at his appointed moment Christ died for sinful men. It is not easy to die even for a good man – though of course for someone really worthy, a man might be prepared to die – but what proves that God loves us is that Christ died for us while we were still sinners. Having died to make us righteous, is it likely that he would now fail to save us from God's anger? When we were reconciled to God by the death of his Son, we were still enemies; now that we have been reconciled surely we may count on being saved by the life of his Son? Not merely because we have been reconciled but because we are filled with joyful trust in God, through our Lord Jesus Christ, through whom we have already gained our reconciliation.

Gospel Mt 9:36—10:8

When Jesus saw the crowds he felt sorry for them because they were harassed and dejected, like sheep without a shepherd. Then he said to his disciples, 'The harvest is rich but the labourers are few, so ask the Lord of the harvest to send labourers to his harvest.'

He summoned his twelve disciples, and gave them authority over unclean spirits with power to cast them out and to cure all kinds of diseases and sickness.

These are the names of the twelve apostles: first, Simon who is called Peter, and his brother Andrew; James the son of Zebedee, and his brother John; Philip and Bartholomew; Thomas, and Matthew the tax collector; James the son of Alphaeus, and Thaddaeus; Simon the Zealot and Judas Iscariot, the one who was to betray him. These twelve Jesus sent out, instructing them as follows:

'Do not turn your steps to pagan territory, and do not enter any Samaritan town; go rather to the lost sheep of the House of Israel. And as you go, proclaim that the kingdom of heaven is close at hand. Cure the sick, raise the dead, cleanse the lepers, cast out devils. You received without charge, give without charge.'
