Weekend Mass Resumes

Reconciliation by appointment (contact Fr Mark or Parish Office)

Dear friends,

It is wonderful that this weekend we are able to 'throw open the doors' of our Church and welcome people to gather once again for the celebration of Mass. As we resume we still have a number of constraints such as the number of people permitted to gather, the necessity for all to continue wearing masks, sanitising hands before communion, showing evidence of vaccination etc. I feel particularly for those amongst us who, for medical reasons, are unable to be vaccinated and shortly I will arrange the celebration of a weekly Mass particularly for those people.

During the week I was most fortunate to be able to participate in the Annual Melbourne Clergy Conference, albeit 'on line.' We are blessed in particular to have some outstanding speakers especially Fr Michael Casey, a Cistercian priest from Tarrawarra Abbey in Yarra Glen, and Dr Austen Ivereigh, who has written extensively about Pope Francis and what has shaped and formed him to be the man of vision he is for our world and Church at this time.

Interestingly both speakers were very strong on the necessity for the Church, so you and me, to get back to the basics and re-focus our attention on the life and ministry of Jesus. Both speakers suggested that for too long the Church has been focused on itself far too much and has become self reverential. The more we have done this the reality is that the less relevant we have become.

So as we open up once more those thoughts might be worth our prayer and reflection. We all know what the ministry of Jesus was about and those to whom he reached out and why. Let us re-commit ourselves once more to His way and make it our way as a parish community.

Serve the Lord with Joy

First Reading — Deuteronomy 6:2-6

Moses said to the people: 'If you fear the Lord your God all the days of your life and if you keep all his laws and commandments which I lay on you, you will have a long life, you and your son and your grandson. Listen then, Israel, keep and observe what will make you prosper and give you great increase, as the Lord God of your fathers has promised you, giving you a land where milk and honey flow.

'Listen, Israel: The Lord our God is the one Lord. You shall love the Lord your God with all your heart, with all your soul, with all your strength. Let these words I urge on you today be written on your heart.'

Second Reading — Hebrews 7:23-28

There used to be a great number of priests under the former covenant, because death put an end to each one of them; but this one, Christ, because he remains for ever, can never lose his priesthood. It follows, then, that his power to save is utterly certain, since he is living for ever to intercede for all who come to God through him.

To suit us, the ideal high priest would have to be holy, innocent and uncontaminated, beyond the influence of sinners, and raised up above the heavens; one who would not need to offer sacrifices every day, as the other high priests do for their own sins and then for those of the people, because he has done this once and for all by offering himself. The Law appoints high priests who are men subject to weakness; but the promise on oath, which came after the Law, appointed the Son who is made perfect for ever.

Gospel — Mark 12:28-34

One of the scribes came up to Jesus and put a question to him, 'Which is the first of all the commandments?' Jesus replied, 'This is the first: Listen, Israel, the Lord our God is the one Lord, and you must love the Lord your God with all your heart, with all your soul, with all your mind, and with all your strength. The second is this: You must love your neighbour as yourself. There is no commandment greater than these.' The scribe said to him, 'Well spoken, Master; what you have said is true: that he is one and there is no other. To love him with all your heart, with all your understanding and strength, and to love your neighbour as yourself, this is far more important than any holocaust or sacrifice.' Jesus, seeing how wisely he had spoken, said, 'You are not far from the kingdom of God.' And after that no one dared to question him any more.
