“THE BLIND SEE... THE LAME WALK, LEPERS ARE CLEANSED, AND THE DEAF HEAR ...”

John the Baptist has been in prison and heard of the things that Jesus has done and said. He knows his life is likely to end very soon, so he wants to make sure Jesus is the awaited one. That's why he sends his disciples to ask Jesus, “Are you the one who is to come, or have we got to wait for someone else?”

Herod may have put John in jail, but John's own expectations have imprisoned him. Herod's jail, the historical stones and mortar, is an external symbol of the inner prison in which John now waits. It is the interior prison of disappointment and disillusion. He is confined by his own unmet expectations. He has heard about all that the Christ, the Messiah, is doing but where is the axe, the fire, the winnowing fork? Where is the wrath in the midst of cleansing lepers, giving sight to the blind, raising the dead? So John sends a message, “Are you the one who is to come?”

John has been imprisoned by his own expectations of who the Messiah is and how the Messiah should act. His expectation of the Messiah is different from what he has heard about Jesus. That is the danger of holding our expectations too tightly. Whether they are expectations of hope or expectations of dread our own expectations often blind us to the one who is coming, to the one who is more powerful. We imprison ourselves with a view of God, the kingdom, the world, our own lives that is too narrow. We try to confine God's work and life to our expectations. But that is not who God is or how God acts.

We thought God would make our lives easy and instead he calls us to live more deeply. We wanted God to eliminate our suffering and instead discovered God standing with us in the midst of our pain. We expected God would make us great, but he called us to identify with the least, the last, the lost. We hoped God would destroy our enemies, but he commanded us to love them. We wanted to be the leaders, but God told us to be servants.

Jesus tells John's disciples to tell their master what they had seen and heard, the signs of the messianic age: “the blind see... the lame walk, lepers are cleansed, and the deaf hear, and the dead are raised to life and the Good News is proclaimed to the poor”. Advent is the season of letting go of our expectations so that we can see the signs of the Messiah's presence in our lives.

Deadline for Bulletin: 10.00am Thursday
