Dear parishioners,

I am home. Four weeks holidays in Vietnam seemed so short to me. One of my great feelings was that of waking up without an alarm clock or checking up diary for things happening in the day.

Although I was on holidays, I still had time in helping our parish priest in saying Masses for him so that he could have some days off. I also spent few days in visiting two orphanages run by Dominican sisters and a village of lepers in the middle of Vietnam. It was good to see smiling on their faces in receiving gifts given to them, but I felt happier than they all in helping them. Perhaps these following photos explain to you what I mean.
