First Reading

A reading from the prophet Malachi

The day is coming now, burning like a furnace; and all the arrogant and the evildoers will be like stubble. The day that is coming is going to burn them up, says the Lord of hosts, leaving them neither root nor stalk. But for you who fear my name, the sun of righteousness will shine out with healing in its rays.

The Word of the Lord,
Response - Thanks be to God

Responsorial Psalm

Ps 97:5-9. R. see v.9

(R.) The Lord comes to rule the earth with justice.

1. Sing psalms to the Lord with the harp with the sound of music. With trumpets and the sound of the horn acclaim the King, the Lord. (R.)
2. Let the sea and all within it, thunder; the world, and all its peoples. Let the rivers clap their hands and the hills ring out their joy at the presence of the Lord. (R.)
3. For the Lord comes, he comes to rule the earth. He will rule the world with justice and the peoples with fairness. (R.)

Second Reading

A reading from the second letter of St Paul to the Thessalonians

You know how you are supposed to imitate us: now we were not idle when we were with you, nor did we ever have our meals at anyone's table without paying for them; no, we worked night and day, slaving and straining, so as not to be a burden on any of you. This was not because we had no right to be, but in order to make ourselves an example for you to follow.

We gave you a rule when we were with you: not to let anyone have any food if he refused to do any work. Now we hear that there are some of you who are living in idleness, doing no work themselves but interfering with everyone else's. In the Lord Jesus Christ, we order and call on people of this kind to go on quietly working and earning the food that they eat.

The Word of the Lord,
Response - Thanks be to God

Gospel Acclamation

Alleluia, alleluia!

Lift up your heads and see;
your redemption is near at hand.
Alleluia!

Gospel

A reading from the holy Gospel according to Luke

When some were talking about the Temple, remarking how it was adorned with fine stonework and votive offerings, Jesus said, 'All these things you are staring at now – the time will come when not a single stone will be left on another: everything will be destroyed.' And they put to him this question: 'Master,' they said, 'when will this happen, then, and what sign will there be that this is about to take place?'

'Take care not to be deceived,' he said, 'because many will come using my name and saying, "I am he" and, "The time is near at hand." Refuse to join them. And when you hear of wars and revolutions, do not be frightened, for this is something that must happen but the end is not soon.' Then he said to them, 'Nation will fight against nation, and kingdom against kingdom. There will be great earthquakes and plagues and famines here and there; there will be fearful sights and great signs from heaven.

'But before all this happens, men will seize you and persecute you; they will hand you over to the synagogues and to imprisonment, and bring you before kings and governors because of my name – and that will be your opportunity to bear witness. Keep this carefully in mind: you are not to prepare your defence, because I myself shall give you an eloquence and a wisdom that none of your opponents will be able to resist or contradict. You will be betrayed even by parents and brothers, relations and friends; and some of you will be put to death. You will be hated by all men on account of my name, but not a hair of your head will be lost. Your endurance will win you your lives.'

The Gospel of the Lord

Response - Praise to you, Lord Jesus Christ

REFLECTION - "God calls us to be united" Archbishop of Canterbury visits Melbourne

Last month, on Sunday 9 October, Archbishop Peter A Comensoli joined the Archbishop of Canterbury, His Grace Justin Welby, at a special Provincial Choral Evensong at St Paul's Cathedral to give thanks for the 175th anniversary of the foundation of the Anglican Diocese of Melbourne. The Archbishop of Canterbury is the senior archbishop of the Church of England and lead bishop of the worldwide Anglican Communion. The evensong—part his official visit to Melbourne—was attended by church leaders and representatives of faith communities from across Victoria, as well as Anglican bishops, clergy and representatives from Anglican parishes, schools and agencies. At the end of the service, Archbishop Comensoli pronounced the benediction, along with Archbishop Welby and the Anglican Archbishop of Melbourne, the Most Rev. Philip Freier.

Archbishop Welby began his sermon by reflecting on the origins of the Anglican and Catholic dioceses in Melbourne, which were both established 175 years ago on 25 June 1847. 'What an extraordinary adventure it must have been', he said, to travel so far from home and all that you had known in order to plant a diocese on the other side of the world. 'It must have felt terrifyingly insecure. On what do you rest such an adventure? On what do you rest your hopes?'

The answer can be found Psalm 107, he suggested: 'You rest your hopes on God, who is worthy of thanks.' When we look back, he said: God looks at you and sees the real you—not the you [that] you put on in church or in a pulpit, but the absolute, inner you that in the depths of a bad night you suspect might be the real you, and of which you are deeply frightened. And God knows you and sees who you are—each person here—at the depths of who you are and loves you unremittingly and calls you to change.

Feast of Saint Hungary

On Nov. 17, the Catholic Church celebrates the life and example of St. Elizabeth of Hungary, a medieval noblewoman who responded to personal tragedy by embracing St. Francis' ideals of poverty and service. A patron of secular Franciscans, she is especially beloved to Germans, as well as the faithful of her native Hungary.

Working continually with the severely ill, Elizabeth became sick herself, dying of illness in November of 1231. After she died, miraculous healings soon began to occur at her grave near the hospital, and she was declared a saint only four years later.

Pope Benedict XVI has praised her as a "model for those in authority," noting the continuity between her personal love for God, and her public work on behalf of the poor and sick.
